DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include the following reference sign(s) mentioned in the description: the "rectilinear plate 51" in paragraph 34. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 1-14 are objected to because of the following informalities: the phrase "can be" renders the claims indefinite, because it is not clear whether what's following after is a part of claims or not. Appropriate correction is required.

Art Unit: 2872

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-5 and 8-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Drumheller (US 5,165,081).

Drumheller discloses a vehicular mirror assembly for providing an occupant of a vehicle with a rearward view, the mirror assembly comprising: a reflective element (Fig. 9, 102) having a first connecting element (96), a frame (62) for supporting the reflective element having a second connecting element (68, 70), the first and second connecting elements being adapted to be interconnected to one another to mount the reflective element to the frame (see Fig. 9); at least one of the first connecting element and the second connecting element being movably mounted to a respective one of the reflective element and the frame so that one of the frame and the reflective element can be employed with differently-sized corresponding ones of other reflective elements and frames (see Fig. 9). At least one first connecting element comprises one of a ball and socket (94). At least one second connecting element comprises the other of a ball and socket (98). The frame further comprises a slot (76), the at least one second connecting element further comprises a plate (72), and the plate is slidably received in the slot (see 72 in 76). Further comprises an actuator assembly having at least one moveable jackscrew (68, 70) for adjusting the tilt of the reflective element (inherently a tilting would occur), wherein the at least one first connecting element is attached to the actuator assembly (see Fig. 9). There are two reflective elements in figure 6, one can be considered as the first reflective element and the other can be considered as the second reflective element (see Fig. 6, for claims 8-10).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Drumheller.

Drumheller discloses the claimed invention as set forth above except the first connecting element comprises two connecting elements. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have two instead of one for the purpose of having strengthened connection between the frame and the reflective element.
